Dr. Ahmed Appointed Miriam H. Stoneman Professor of Radiology at Harvard

Dr. Muneeb Ahmed has been appointed Miriam H. Stoneman Professor of Radiology by the President and Provost of Harvard University. As stated on the Harvard Medical School website, endowed professorships, such as this one, are the “highest honor [HMS] can bestow upon a faculty member,” as they “recognize extraordinary clinicians, researchers, and educators who serve on the HMS quadrangle or as faculty at one of HMS’ affiliated institutions.”

For more than 20 years, Dr. Ahmed has been resolute in his mission to deliver the highest level of healthcare as a clinician-scientist while also serving as a consummate mentor, leader, administrator, ablator, researcher, and colleague. We also wish to acknowledge our valued alumni colleague, Dr. Herbert Kressel, who was appointed Miriam H. Stoneman Professor of Radiology in 1993 and continues to hold this prestigious title today.

Dr. Brook Appointed Executive Vice-Chair of Radiology Staffing Strategy & Talent Acquisition

Dr. Olga Brook has been appointed Executive Vice-Chair of Radiology, overseeing a new portfolio of Staffing Strategy and Talent Acquisition within the Department of Radiology at BIDMC. Dr. Brook will lead our strategic planning efforts in this domain to ensure we continue recruiting and retaining the best talent for our world-class radiology team. Also, as Program Leader of our international medical graduate pipeline in the alternate pathway, Dr. Brook will continue to oversee all aspects of IMG trainee recruitment, pipelining, training optimization, placement, and career advancement.
