

Department of Anesthesia, Critical Care and Pain Medicine

New Staff

Morena Favorato, MD

HMFP

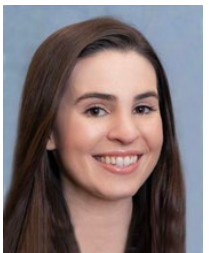

MD and Residency: University of Milan Bicocca
School of Medicine and Surgery

CRNA Team

Christina Tenedios, MS, CRNA

Longwood Specialty Physicians

Samantha Tyson, DNP, CRNA

HMFP

Department of Anesthesia, Critical Care and Pain Medicine

Awards & Honors

Feroze Mahmood, MBBS, MA was named the inaugural holder of the Mark E. Comunale, MD Chair in Cardiac Anesthesia. Dr. Mahmood is a Professor of Anaesthesia at Harvard Medical School and Director of Cardiac Anesthesia at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center. This prestigious endowed chair is awarded exclusively to distinguished medical professionals with a proven record of excellence and achievement. It provides dedicated funding to support the incumbent's priorities in clinical care, medical research, and education.

Ameeka Pannu, MD has been selected as the Director of Cardiac Critical Care. This is a newly created position that reflects our departments expanding role in cardiac critical care at BIDMC.

Mark Lunderberg, MD, PhD was awarded a $250,000, a two-year Foundation for Anesthesia Education and Research (FAER) training grant entitled, "Modulation of inflammatory and metabolic effects of ischemia-reperfusion injury." Dr. Simon Robson will serve as his primary mentor for this project.

Anastasia Katsiampoura, MD, PhD, was promoted to Assistant Professor of Anesthesia at Harvard Medical School.

Anastasia Katsiampoura, MD, PhD, with the support of her mentor Dr. Shahzad Shaefi, received the Joyce Wahr Starter Grant from the Society of Cardiovascular Anesthesiologists (SCA). Their funded project, "Elucidating Anti-inflammatory Roles of CD39 and T Regulatory Cells with Cardiopulmonary Bypass," aims to advance our understanding of immune modulation during cardiac surgery.