

Department of Dermatology

New Staff

Jennifer Lo, MD, PhD, joined the Department of Dermatology in June from Massachusetts General Hospital, where she was an attending physician. She will serve as Director of Melanoma and Pigmented Lesions Clinic, Associate Director of Research, and Director of Translational Medicine in the BIDMC Department of Dermatology, and will continue her research on skin cancer biology and application of novel sub-cellular mapping technologies to develop personalized cancer therapeutics. Dr. Lo received her MD and PhD from Harvard Medical School and her bachelor's degree from Harvard College. She completed her internship at BIDMC, dermatology residency at the Harvard Combined Dermatology Residency Training Program, and a post-doctoral research fellowship in melanoma biology and immunotherapy at the Broad Institute of MIT and Harvard.

Gerilyn Mai-Lan Olsen, MD, joined the Department of Dermatology in July. She is a graduate of the Medical College of Wisconsin, where she was the Dermatology chief resident and where she also completed her dermatology residency and a pediatrics internship. She received her bachelor's degree from Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri. Her clinical interests include skin cancers, general dermatology, cosmetic dermatology, and dermatologic surgery.